

Now is the Time to Finish Your Degree

As is often said, there is no time like the present! Now is the time to commit to going back to college - online - to get your degree! You can do it in your own time, it's inexpensive, there are loads of options, we have an exceptional student support network, and you will never be sorry you made the decision. The deadline to apply for admission at the University of Alaska Fairbanks eCampus is November 1. To simply take a class, registration is open November 28.

Spring semester is right around the corner, and now is the time to narrow down what you're interested in. Does Cybersecurity sound interesting - well, it's one of the fastest growing career paths in the country! How about Social Work? So many people are struggling with mental health issues – are you the type of person who wants to help people? Are you a 'business guy or gal'? Get your undergraduate degree in Business or get your MBA! We even have a STEM MBA geared toward the intersection of business and aquatic resources.

Busy professionals who want to advance in their careers need the flexibility of online, asynchronous education. UAF eCampus has over 50 degree programs to choose from. All online education is at the in-state tuition rate, and right now $260/credit for 100-200 level courses, $289/credit for 300-400 level courses and $539/credit for graduate courses is a bargain!

At UAF eCampus you will have two advisors - one in your school or college program, and one at eCampus. In addition, the staff at both eCampus and UAF are some of the smartest and nicest people with whom I've worked in my 40+ years of working! Nice people make your journey so much more enjoyable!

You will never regret going back to college and brushing up on a skill, completing your degree, or gaining a certificate. It's an investment in which you will never lose!

By Teresa Thompson
Corporate Enrollment at UAF eCampus