

Excelsior University

March Newsletter 2023

Teaching a New Generation of Medical Assistants

Thanks to Excelsior University's partnership with the American Association of Medical Assistants \(AAMA\), Wendy Craven, of Winston Salem, North Carolina, earned a Bachelor of Science in Health Sciences, an accomplishment that enables her to continue her medical assisting career. With this degree, she is also able to give back to the next generation of medical assistants as they come through the doors of the community college where she works... Read more

A Walk to Remember

His plans were all set, but William "Bill" Klee, of Lusby, Maryland, almost didn't walk the stage at Excelsior University's 51st Annual Commencement in July 2022. He had earned a Bachelor of Professional Studies in Technology Management, and he had excelled in (and enjoyed) his courses—he even tripled up in several of his trimesters! The problem came in late June of 2022 when he received a horrifying call saying his daughter had been in a terrible motorcycle accident. Forget about attending Commencement, was she even alright? Read more

Forget about attending Commencement, was she even alright? Read more

Previous Event Recording

Alumni Webinar: Organizational Leadership Series: New Year's Leadership Resolution

It's that time of year again when people promise to make a change for the new year. A typical New Year's resolution involves quitting or starting a new habit to improve oneself in the upcoming year. Similarly, the first Organizational Leadership webinar of 2023 will reflect on ways you can meet leadership challenges and have a successful year. This webinar will cover desired habits and how you can lead change and create strategies to achieve your leadership vision.

If you missed the opportunity to attend this wonderful event, you can find the recording here: <https://bcove.video/3GWzKkN>

To learn more about Excelsior University and the benefits of being a partnership student, schedule a virtual meeting with your Partnership Manager, Robert Lyons, by emailing - RLyons@excelsior.edu

For more information about Excelsior University and the partnership program, please contact the Partnership Admissions team (844-843-9296)